FOREWORD

H.E. NANA ADDO DANKWA AKUFO-ADDO

President of the Republic of Ghana

I am happy to welcome the Global African Family to Ghana, the centre of the world, once again. This is an extraordinary time as we continue to build bridges between the continent of Africa and Africans in the Diaspora. Ghana's history of Pan-Africanism continues to make her a country of choice for the diaspora community.

During the Year of Return in 2019, we launched the December in GH campaign to climax the year long program. This Campaign has now put Ghana on the map as the place to be for the Christmas holiday season.

This year, like previous years, promises to be monumental as we warmly welcome our brothers and sisters from the diaspora . We believe the life-changing experiences of those who have visited Ghana in the past continues to resonate and inspire others to make the journey back home to the motherland.

I am looking forward to seeing our visiting brothers and sisters engage in various activities that will provide learning opportunities, and to immerse in the vibrant culture of Ghana - learning about our traditions, culture and heritage, whilst connecting with their ancestral roots.

To all of you visiting our shores for the first time, I say akwaaba, our word of welcome to you. You are amongst a people who pride themselves on their sense of hospitality. Enjoy your visit to our beautiful country.

Welcome Message

HON. DR. IBRAHIM MOHAMMED AWAL
Minister For Tourism, Arts and Culture

December in Ghana, represents another exciting time in Ghana's tourism sector. As your Minister of Tourism, Arts, & Culture, I take pride in seeing Ghana continue to be the leading country of choice in West Africa for travellers during the December holiday season. We anticipate that this year's 'December in GH' campaign will welcome a record number of travellers to Ghana. We're excited that Ghanaians, the global African diaspora and continental Africans are looking forward to joining us in Ghana for an exciting time this December.

'December in GH' has become one of the biggest activations in our tourism sector and it touches on the three pillars of our ministry; tourism, arts, and culture. All are at the core of the many events that take place during the month of December. The success of December in GH is unprecedented and has been an important part of not only boosting the economy, but also branding Ghana as the 'go-to' destination in December and subsequently, the rest of the year.

When engaging with our many hotel and tour operators, we know that several have already booked groups far in advance. This is good news as local businesses who are impacted by travel and tourism will benefit from the influx of arrivals in December.

Ghanaians living abroad have already been making the annual journey for the holiday season to visit family and friends. Since 2019 we've seen this expand to include the global African diaspora, continental Africans and beyond.

We look forward to welcoming all of you.

DECEMBER in GH

December has always been a time when Ghanaians living abroad returned home to visit their family and friends and enjoy the festive season. The last few years this ritual of December in Ghana has expanded beyond the Ghanaians abroad to the entire African diaspora community as tens of thousands make their way to Ghana for the December holiday season every year.

It was in 2019 during the ‘Year of Return’, when the Ghana Tourism Authority, under the auspices of the Ministry of Tourism, Arts and Culture, officially launched the #DecemberInGH campaign to promote Ghana as a December holiday season destination. This was not only for the Ghanaian diaspora but for the global African family and beyond. The campaign has thus far exceeded expectations putting Ghana on the global map and spotlighting it as the official Christmas party destination. According to Akwasi Agyeman, CEO of the Ghana Tourism Authority, “December in Gh is not just about tourism numbers. It has become a clarion call for the global African family to reconnect around our arts and culture. We are building a new wave that will help promote African music, fashion, food, and many more indigenous activities.”

The campaign includes a signature calendar of events which features activities that have been officially endorsed by the Ghana Tourism Authority through the Beyond the Return Secretariat. It’s one of the most anticipated calendars as travellers book their trip based on which events they plan to attend. “Every year event organizers want to be featured on our calendar because they know that thousands of people around the world are looking at it to make their holiday plans in Ghana,” said Annabelle McKenzie, Director of the Beyond the Return Secretariat. It’s expected that Ghana will have record numbers for international arrivals at the airport this year.

It’s been over two and a half years since the global travel industry was disrupted. With restrictions now eased around the world, more people are travelling and many like you, are ready to come back to Ghana and experience some of the best festivals, activities, cultural programs and concerts featuring Africa’s best talent. Welcome to ‘December in GH’ where you’ll create memories to last you a lifetime. We’re open, and ready for you.

December in GH TRAVEL GUIDE

Welcome to Ghana! Your gateway to Africa. The country is known for its history, rich culture and welcoming people. Get ready for the experience of a lifetime as you explore, feel and see the beauty of Ghana. When planning a trip to Ghana there are a few things you must do before you start your journey.

Here are some important travel tips for your trip to Ghana.

HEALTH

Ghana's covid-19 protocols require that all travellers entering the country provide proof of vaccination against Covid-19.

CLIMATE

Ghana is a tropical country that sits close to the Equator and thus has heat all year long. Even during the rainy season the country experiences heat in most areas. When packing your luggage choose lightweight clothing so that you're comfortable throughout your trip.

If you have plans to visit the mountain regions, expect temperatures to be a little cooler during the rainy season. Pack a light jacket, umbrella or rain jacket.

WHAT TO PACK

Carry a power bank for charging your electronic gadgets. Finding power outlets in public spaces may not be as common in Ghana as it is in your home country. Keeping a charged power bank with you will ensure that your electronic devices remain charged when you need them.

SAFETY

Ghana is one of the safest countries in Africa. The country was listed at the 40th safest in the world and second safest in Africa according to the Global Peace Index 2022.

Ghana was listed as the second safest country in Africa according to the Global Peace Index 2021.

GETTING AROUND

During the month of December Ghana experiences a heavy increase in traffic, especially in the capital city of Accra. It's highly recommended that you plan your journey with added time to accommodate for delays due to the traffic.

TAXI

You'll see taxis from the moment you arrive at the airport. They are one of the most common forms of transportation. They are marked at Black and Yellow vehicles and often have stations around the city where you can either board a taxi solo or join one that is a carpool often referred to as a 'loading taxi'.

Taxis in Ghana don't have meters, leaving you to negotiate the price before you start the journey. However, the 'loading taxi' has a fixed price because it's based on a destination and divided between the number of passengers in the car.

RIDESHARE APPS (UBER, BOLT, YANGO)

Downloading a rideshare app like Uber, Bolt or Yango is a preferred way to get around by making foreign travellers. The ease of not worrying about dire

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

The most popular form of local transportation are vehicles referred to as a 'trotro'. These are vans that seat up to 16 people and usually don't have any air conditioning and can be uncomfortable for travellers not used to this mode of transit.

Mass Transit buses are also available during business hours. These are buses that typically operate at certain bus stations and stops. They are not available all day and it's rare to find them in operation on the weekend.

AIR TRAVEL

When visiting different regions, you can fly domestically from Kotoka International Airport. Within the country you can fly from Accra to Takoradi, Kumasi, Tamale, Ho and Sunyani.

FOOD & DRINK

Prepare for your palate to experience the flavour of Ghanaian cuisine, which is filled with plenty of spices and pepper. A typical Ghanaian dish will include a starchy food and a side of meat, fish or stew. Ghanians love pepper so it's always included as a side sauce with nearly every dish. If you're not adverse to pepper, it's important to share that when ordering your food.

To avoid any water borne illnesses, it's best to avoid drinking tap water while you're visiting Ghana.

NIGHTLIFE

Ghana has some of the most vibrant nightlife in Africa. Whether you're in the heart of Accra or in a rural community, Ghanians know how to have a good time. The most popular hotspots known as 'go-to' places for the best parties and DJs are located in the country's capital of Accra.

Urban nightlife in Osu, Labone, East Legon, and Ridge are the most spoken of parts of the city. One thing to note is that Ghanians go from party after party into the wee hours of the morning. With some places really starting to vibe after midnight, you may want to consider taking a nap in the afternoon before a night of partying in Accra during the month of December.

SHOPPING

Accra Mall, West Hills Mall, A&C Mall, Oyarifa Mall, Junction Mall and Achimota Mall are some of the bigger shopping centres in Ghana. All located in the Greater Accra region. There are many other plazas and mini-shopping centres that have been opening as developments grow in the country.

Ghana is a cash society. Meaning most shops and vendors prefer to be paid in cash.

If carrying cards, please note that most places do not accept American Express (AMEX)

Message from

CEO, Ghana Tourism Authority

Since 2019, when we launched the December in GH program, Ghana, the shining 'Black Star' of Africa, has become the official Christmas party destination for the global African family. Each year, the holiday celebrations keeps getting better and bigger, attracting people from around the world.

This year, expectations are high as we celebrate the first full year of the easing of COVID-19 restrictions. Although the global economic challenges occasioned by the Russian invasion of Ukraine continues to impact our sector, we are confident that the array of events, festivals, tours and community programs are enough to attract people to attend.

Many of the events on our calendar this year are central to the pillars of the 'Beyond the Return' initiative, and it will provide a platform for our continuous engagement with the historical diaspora community.

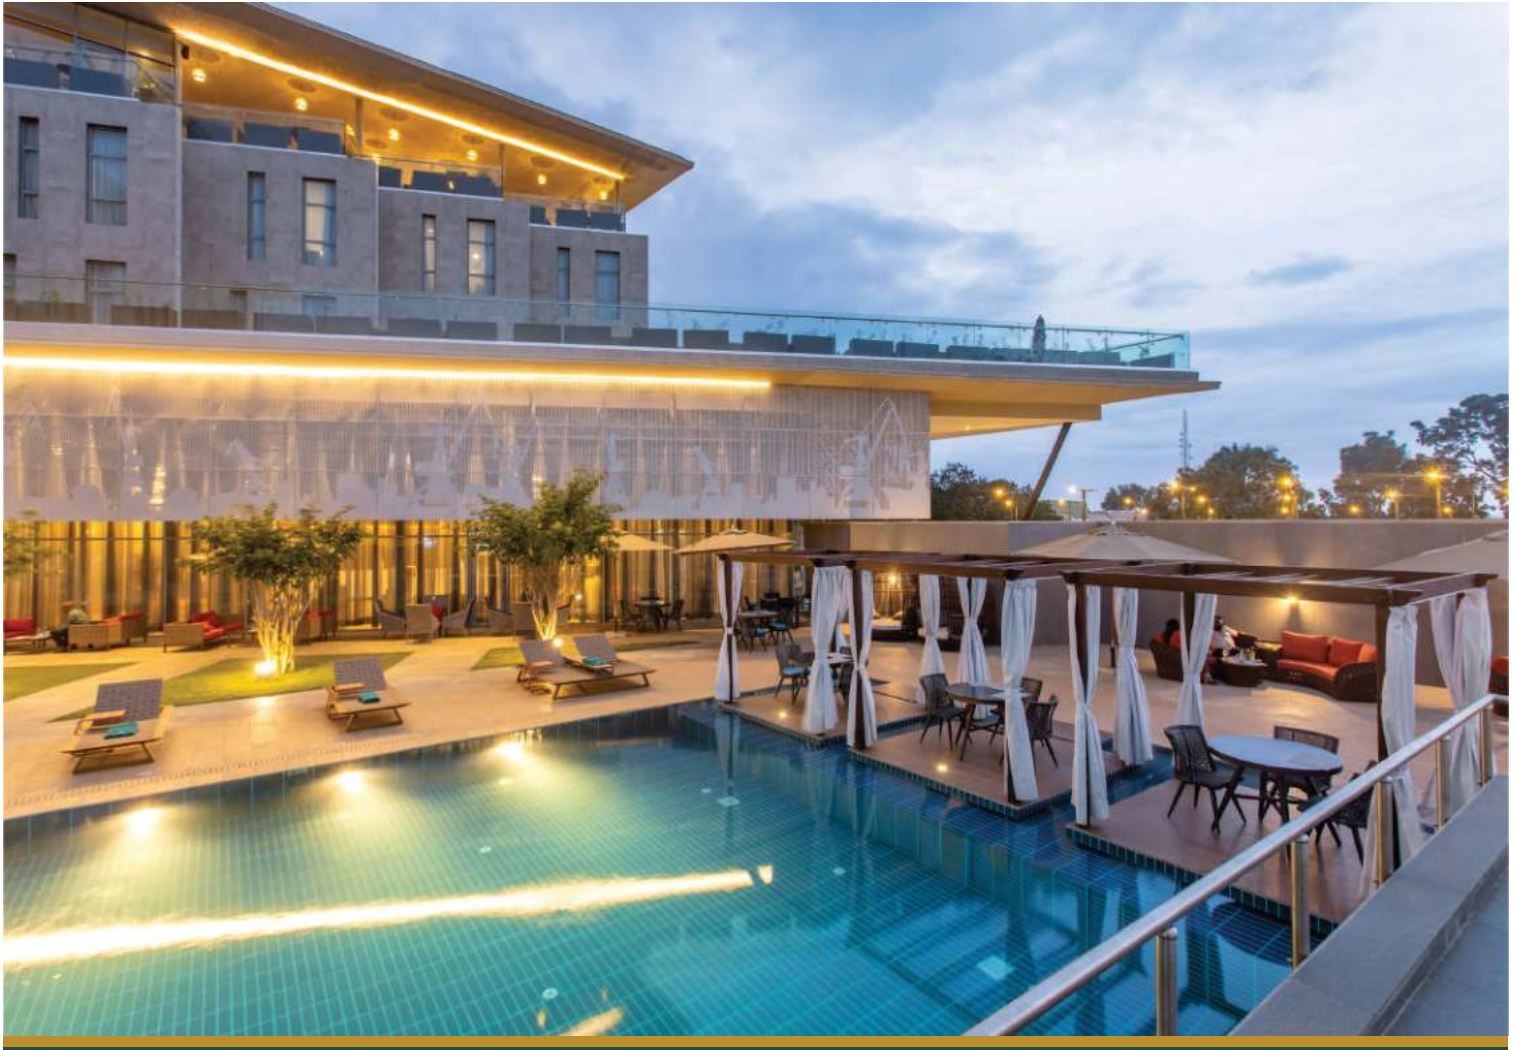

The model we have developed for the period is one of partnership and collaboration and we thank all the event organisers, promoters and organisations that have chosen to be part of this global showpiece.

We look forward to the continued development of our relationship with the private sector.

This year's line up includes returning events such as the Taste of Ghana, Afrochella, Afro Nation, Akwaaba UK, Rhythms on da Runway, Kids in Tourism, GT Bank Concert, the BHIM Concert, Joyful Way and the Samini Experience amongst others. There are some exciting new events also added to this year's calendar like the Selewa Market, the Bukom experience and others.

We encourage Ghanaians to live up to our reputation as a friendly and hospitable people. Let us make the Black Star shine once again.

ANNABELLE MCKENZIE

Director, Beyond The Return Secretariat

December in Ghana is the most anticipated time of year as Ghanaians, the global African diaspora and continental Africans make their way to Ghana for the holiday season. I'm once again excited about 'December in GH', which I anticipate is going to be another exciting time. The Beyond the Return Secretariat has endorsed several events for the campaign and we're prepared for a season that will welcome everyone who has chosen to make Ghana their destination place for the holidays.

I'm proud to say that Ghana continues to be the cultural hotbed for festivals, music events, and food. As an African American who took the bold step to explore my ancestral roots in Africa, I'm happy to have chosen Ghana as home. I've also become a citizen of this wonderful country that has welcomed me like part of its extended family. I've been living here the last few years and have gained some of the most life-changing experiences while also connecting with my fellow brothers and sisters from the diaspora community who visit Ghana. It has truly been a special time to see others fall in love with the African continent the way I have.

At the time of this writing, my team and I have endorsed over 80 events taking place from November through December and into early January. There is a diverse array of activities for all walks of life to enjoy while visiting Ghana. All the events have elements that connect with the foundational pillars of the Beyond the Return initiative. The theme is 'A Decade of African Renaissance' and the pillars are Experience Ghana, Celebrate Ghana, Diaspora Pathways to Ghana, Brand Ghana, Give Back Ghana, Invest in Ghana and Promote Pan African Heritage and Innovation.

I also want to encourage our local Ghanaian community to join us at all these events. This is not just for visitors, but for all of us to come together and celebrate all that our country has to offer. There will be everything from cultural festivals to concerts, workshops, networking, family events and performances featuring some of Ghana's favourite artists as well as international powerhouses in the Afrobeats music scene.

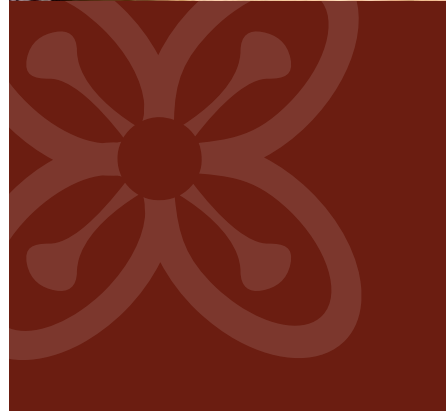

Ghana has become the destination for all. We are open, and we are ready for you. Come and experience December in GH.

BEYOND THE RETURN

STEERING COMMITTEE

The Beyond the Return Steering Committee is excited to be associated with another 'December in GH' filled with activities, festivals, concerts and cultural events that will continue to promote Ghana as the place to be during the holiday season.

The Beyond the Return Initiative is built on the foundation of seven pillars, which are key to Ghana's continued engagement with the Global African Community. Each of the endorsed events connect with at least one of the pillars which are: *Experience Ghana, *Celebrate Ghana, *Invest in Ghana, *Diaspora Pathways to Ghana, *Promote Pan-African Heritage & Innovation, and *Brand Ghana. There is a diverse array of activities for persons of all walks of life to enjoy while they visit Ghana.

Everything from cultural festivals to concerts featuring popular artists and family events. We encourage visitors to also explore some of the events happening outside of the city of Accra so they can experience more of the country's culture and visit sites in other regions.

'December in GH' was launched by the Ghana Tourism Authority under the Ministry of Tourism, Arts and Culture during the nation's monumental 'Year of Return' 2019 campaign which opened the doors to our diaspora community across the world. This was inspired by the fact that our country has always been known as one that pioneered the ideals of pan Africanism as a national project. The Year of Return echoed the likes of our first President Kwame Nkrumah, and leading lights of Pan Africanism WEB DuBois, George Padmore and Marcus Garvey, who taught the community about coming together and embracing Africa as home. Indeed, the Year of Return became an extension of this ideal. We received record numbers of travellers as we saw our brothers and sisters from the historical African diaspora, continental Africans and Ghanaians living abroad come to Ghana. It brought everyone together with our local Ghanaians to experience the reconnection of our global African family.

'December in GH' takes its place among a growing number of events in Ghana designed to uplift the Pan African reality. December in Gh. Is a legacy that we are proud to support each year as Ghana continues to be the place to visit for the holidays.

We welcome you to Ghana this December and every year to come and create memories that last a lifetime.

RHYTHMS ON DA RUNWAY

@ Accra International Conference Centre

Contact: 0244273229

Nineteen57africa@gmail.com

What began as a humble intimate gathering at the poolside of Golden Tulip Hotel has today become a multimillion industry business, uniting a league of music legends and fashion titans under one roof. This reaffirms the hope that all our dreams can come true if we find the courage to pursue them. Described as Africa's biggest cultural exposé by the BBC, the purpose of Rhythms On Da Runway (RODR) is to bring Africa together on a night of music and fashion—an innovation that does not only bind the people of the continent, but also drives inclusivity by involving creatives and leaders from the African diaspora.

This year, RODR will mark its 10th Edition— a celebration that does not only glorify the ingenuity of African talent, but also distills an extraordinary dream to shape up sustainable fashion in Africa. This concept births the GREEN edition. With a vivid dream of redefining our relationship with fashion, Rhythms On Da Runway wishes to make significant strides to abandon fast fashion trends and help create an industry that is preserving— one that only has a profound impact on people and the planet. RODR perceives the GREEN edition as an opportunity for our designers to envision, create, and bring to life unique collections that are as timeless as the nature that abounds in Africa. As foretells its longevity, this 10th Edition is set to incite designers to tell sustainable stories with their collections. The sustainability movement has taken off worldwide, and the African continent is struggling to keep pace. There are over a billion people living on the continent of Africa, and not nearly enough accessible, sustainable fashion options to meet demand.

This edition will explore the frontiers where the growth of the sustainability movement in Africa is stunted, and entice more eco-friendly brands to shift their focus to the growing African population. In recent years, RODR celebrates the Black Star Awards. This spotlights the notable successes that an African industry leader achieves during their life and extols individuals who have made significant contributions through their service and leadership to the African Creative Arts Industry. This year's event will unveil on stage a number of personalities who will be elevated to the Rhythms On Da Runway Hall of Fame by honoring them with the Black Star Awards. These honorees are Nana Konadu Agyeman Rawlings (former First Lady of the Republic of Ghana), Freedom Jacob Caesar (business mogul, philanthropist, and former record label executive), Hon. Lisa Hanna, (Member of Parliament, Jamaica & former Miss World), Roberta Annan (Ghanaian businesswoman, investor, and philanthropist). Rhythms On Da Runway looks to being the leading threshold to amplify Africa's creative arts for generations to come.

BLAST FROM THE PAST

@Oliver Twist Shack in Laterbiokorshie, Accra
Contact: 0242715229
elnorad14@gmail.com

'BLAST FROM THE PAST' from Oliver Twist Shack (in Laterbiokorshie, Accra) was coined to take you down a musical memory lane. Ghana is known as the first black African country south of the Sahara to have secured independence from colonial rule. Apart from cocoa and gold we are also renowned for our beats, percussions, melody and vocal prowess embedded in our rich music. It is time to clear 17th DECEMBER, 2022 on your calendar!

Ever wondered which songs kept us dancing, tapping our feet and bopping our heads to rhythms in the 1990s and early 2000s? For some this evokes strong nostalgia and for others these are new songs that are thoroughly enjoyable. Either way 'BLAST FROM THE PAST' serves to be a memorable concert bringing back legendary songs that made high school entertainment and parties unforgettable. Music is at the centre of our culture and as young Ghanaians, it is our patriotic duty to be custodians who preserve it and Oliver Twist Shack has taken the initiative. Through our history, music has been a reserve which holds tales of our strife for freedom, life lessons and also celebrates our joyous and festive moments. We believe the evolution of our music is a key component of progress in the entertainment industry and by extension nightlife in Ghana.

The exemplary musical trailblazers from the old order should not be forgotten. Despite the infiltration of Western music, we believe BLAST FROM THE PAST provides a platform for our powerful local music to live on. Numerous greats like Joe Frazier, Akatakyie, Tic Tac, Tinny, Ex-Doe, have previously graced the stage. This year promises to be more remarkable with celebrated musicians billed to perform from 7pm on the 17th. Grab your old school clothes and join us let's make indelible memories. Let our artistes know that their lasting legacy continues to inspire the younger generation. This event is the go-to-festival for authentic Ghanaian music. Tickets will be available online so follow @olivertwistshack on Instagram or visit our website <http://olivertwistshack.com/> for updates. You cannot miss this!

The Taste of Ghana Festival is an annual festival that was instituted in 2020 by the Ghana Investment Promotion Centre (GIPC) together with its partners, the Ghana Tourism Authority (GTA), Beyond the Return Secretariat (BTR), and the Ministry of Information in furtherance of efforts to consistently engage members of the diaspora community to leverage its enormous resource potential for Ghana's development agenda, and to promote investments into Ghana through entertainment, tourism and culture.

The festival aims to showcase authentic made-in-Ghana products and Ghana's rich culture in a more relaxed environment, highlight the business opportunities that Ghanaian culture and products provide as well as create an informal investor network session for new partnerships to be developed.

Taste of Ghana is a fusion of elements of the Ghanaian culture that work towards fostering a palate for Ghana and doing business in Ghana.

After the successful Year of Return in 2019, the Ghana Investment Promotion Centre established the Taste of Ghana festival in a bid towards promoting Ghana as the premier destination of choice for investment and tourism. Through art, music, food, fashion, and day-to-day nuances of Ghanaian life, Taste of Ghana exhibits the many facets of Ghanaian lifestyle and viable avenues for investment.

The event's mission is to continually highlight different aspects and elements of our Ghanaian cultural heritage and landmarks, which hold potential business value to attract the right investments for each opportunity.
